Inflation Is Real Threat, 2 of C Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Chamber of Commerce was told today that the threat of inflation is "as potent and dangerous as ever."

William A. McDonnell of St. Louis, board chairman of the chamber, urged that businessmen take a more active part in government to do something about it.

Despite "the temporary relaxation of inflationary pressures, the threat is still there," McDonnell said in an address prepared for the chamber's 48th annual meeting.

"Even a cold war cannot be won without sacrifices," he said. "We cannot win with shorter hours of work, with long and costly strikes, wage-price spirals, feather-bedding, unbalanced budgets, and fiscal practices which discourage savings and stifle initiative and self-reliance."

He urged more direct action by businessmen.

Testifies He Knew of Payoff

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disc jockey Dick Clark testified today he has known since November of 1959 that he had received a $100,000 payoff from the American Broadcasting Co. to help him win the "American Bandstand" television show.

Clark said Anthony Mammarella, who has since resigned from the show, told him at a late-hours meeting the night of Nov. 14-15 that he had accepted money from record-producing companies.

Clark, Philadelphia disc jockey with a big teen-age audience, denied any intention of misinforming the committee or its investigators about Mammarella's activities.

Last Friday, testifying about a particular instance of alleged payoff received by his former associate, Clark said he had learned of it only the day before.

The House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee called Clark back today because some questioners were not satisfied at a four-hour session Friday.

One of the subcommittee's own investigators, James K. Kelly, started off today's session by testifying that the American Broadcasting Co. relied solely on a sworn statement by Clark in announcing publicly that it had investigated and learned Clark had never taken payoff.

Cherry first was appointed to the board in October, 1955. His new appointment will be for a five-year term.

U. S. Spending by '62 to Be $82 Billions

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—An administration official said today that federal outlays in fiscal 1962 to about $82 billion dollars—one billion higher than the Eisenhower budget now before Congress.

Budget Director Maurice H. Stans made the statement in attacking what he called "compulsive spending" in an address prepared for the 48th annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce here.

"The scheduled rises in costs of some present government programs, he told the businessmen, will not be offset by declines in costs of others."

"There are few built-in decreases, since government programs once begun are usually incapable of being turned off," he said.

If government outlays continue to rise at the rate of the past 10 years, Stans said the federal budget will double to a total of 160 billion dollars by 1970.

The federal government's "mortgage on America's future" already adds up to the "almost unbelievable total of nearly 750 billion dollars," Stans said. In this included the 200 billion dollar federal debt, liabilities totaling 300 billions for retirement pension and other commitments, and 100 billion dollars of "c.o.d.s" on spending programs now in progress.

On the optimistic side, Stans said the prospect is that the national output will reach the 750-billion-dollar mark by 1970. This would add 40 billion dollars to tax revenue and—unless absorbed by higher spending—would permit

Students in Korea Shout for Elections

By GENE KRAMER

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Thousands of rebellious students defied martial law today to surge through four South Korean cities today demanding new National Assembly elections at once.

Troops broke up one demonstration in Seoul with tear gas.

About 20,000 students marched in Pusan for the third straight day, 700 paraded in Taegu, and 1,500 in Kimhae, all demanding the Assembly dissolution.

No clashes were reported in those three cities.

About 150 students squatted for 40 minutes in front of the National Assembly building in Seoul.

The demonstrators charged the Assembly's election in 1958 "through use of violence, money and illegal tactics"—was as fraudulent as the March 15 election that gave ex-President Syngman Rhee a fourth term and elected Assembly Speaker Lee Ki-Poong vice president.

Acting President Huh Chung's caretaker government wants the Assembly, before new elections, to adopt constitutional amendments changing the existing, American-style presidential system to a premier-cabinet form of government. The changes are expected to transfer much of the president's power to a prime minister elected by the Assembly.

The new pressure on Huh's regime came as the Assembly finally accepted Rhee's resignation, submitted six days ago to end his 12 years of autocratic rule over the republic he founded.

Four Killed in Head-on Wreck

SRIPLEY, AP — An Illinois couple and two other persons were killed when an automobile and a small truck collided head-on on a sharp curve near here today.

Dead in the shattering crash were:

Elmer Holden, 67, of Chicago, and his wife, Margit.

Willie Adams and David Hoff, Negroes, both of Memphis, who were in the truck.

Six other persons, all occupants of the truck, were hurt.

Cotton Stands Reported Good

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — About half of Arkansas cotton has been planted and most of it is coming up to a stand very well, the federal-state Crop Reporting Service said today.

The service's weekly crop report said moisture is generally adequate. Some excess is reported from counties along the Mississippi River, while several north central counties have a soil moisture shortage.

Cotton chopping is expected to start in St. Francis County in about 10 days.

The report said rice seeding is in full swing with roughly half the acreage planted.

Strawberries are in good condition and in full bloom in most growing areas. Movement is starting in Crawford County in about one week.

One Victim of Chessman in a Trance

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One of the victims of Cheryl Chessman's sexual attacks a dozen years ago sits in a trance, not able to understand that he has gone to the gas chamber.

She is Mary Alice Meza, 20. As a 17-year-old girl on her first real date after a parish dance, she was subjected to brutal depravity for four hours.

"There is little hope that my daughter will ever be released from the (mental) institution," said her mother, Ruth Shaw, an hour after Chessman's execution Monday.

"I'm glad it's over, if it had to be that way. The whole series of events is a great tragedy for everybody. It should never have happened."

Did Mrs. Shaw think Chessman's execution might relieve her daughter's burden?

"I don't think so. It's been too long. She is very sick."

Another victim of similar treatment by Chessman, Mrs. Andrew H. Brennan, wept uncontrollably and told newsmen: "I just want to forget it all."

She had been out of the hospital only a few days from a polio attack when Chessman attacked her disregarding her pleas for mercy.

Three Injured in NLR Accident

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Six persons, including an Iowa insurance executive and his wife, were injured in an automobile-truck collision near here yesterday.

All were believed recovering at a Little Rock hospital today.

The automobile was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. D. MacKinnon of Des Moines, Iowa. The 58-year-old MacKinnon is a vice president of Equitable Life Insurance Society.

The others injured were Charles Russell, 46; Mrs. Delie Vestal, 66; Mrs. Pearl Langley, 37; and Susie Keith, 3, all residents of North Little Rock and riding in the truck. Russell was driving.

Brother of Hope Woman Dies

Horace Pearson of Delark, brother of Mrs. J. Newton Pentecost of Hope, died today in a Little Rock hospital. Services will be held Thursday at Delark.

Co-ops Are Not Immune Court Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has ruled that farmer's co-operatives are not immune to antitrust laws if they try to stifle competition.

In a unanimous ruling yesterday, the court turned down the argument of the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Assn., Inc., that antitrust action does not apply to it.

Justice Hugo L. Black wrote that the purpose of the Capper-Volstead Act was to give farm co-ops the same competitive advantages available to businessmen acting through corporations.

But, Black said, "It does not suggest a congressional desire to vest cooperatives with unrestricted power to restrain trade monopoly by preying upon independent producers, processors or dealers intent on carrying on their own businesses in their own legitimate way."

Specifically the court upheld a lower court ruling that the Milk Producers assn. must dispose of the Embassy Dairy, which it bought in 1954 for $3,850,000.

The lower court found the monopoly for the quiring Embassy included increasing the association's control over the Washington milk market. The coop, which has about 2,000 farmer members, supplies 80 per cent of the milk purchased by all dealers in the Washington metropolitan area.

Daughter of Actress Gives Herself Up

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "You can't run away forever."

With these words, 16-year-old Cheryl Crane—actress Lana Turner's daughter—ended her latest flight from authority.

She and two other girls escaped Friday from the El Retiro Home, a county-operated girl's school in suburban Sylmar.

Monday, after subsisting three days "mostly on beans," Cheryl called her father and said they wanted to go back to the school.

Steve Crane, Beverly Hills restaurateur, picked them up near a supermarket a mile from the El Retiro home.

He turned Cheryl, Donna Wilson, 16, and Cheryl Zurnburn, 15, over to juvenile authorities. They said probation officers will decide if the girls will go back to El Retiro, a minimum security facility, or to some more heavily guarded home.

Cheryl became a ward of the court two years ago after she fatally stabbed John Stompanato, her mother's lover, in Miss Turner's Beverly Hills home.

At 13 she had run away from a girls' school and was found wandering alone on skid row in Los Angeles.

The girls said they spent the weekend at the home of a friend whom they wouldn't identify.

Killed in Wreck

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Levi Johnson, 73, of Hot Springs, was killed by an automobile today as he walked along Highway 270 about nine miles east of here.

State Police identified the driver as George Gaston, 68, Negro, of Malvern.

President in Public Appeal for Foreign Aid

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower counted on public support today to forestall a proposed billion-dollar cut in foreign aid spending which he said would have "catastrophic results."

"Let America speak, and this will not be done," he said in a nationally televised appeal Monday night.

He welcomed as a "bright development" the Senate's 60-26 passage a few hours earlier of an authorization bill which would cut only $49,400,000 from the $1,175,000 he proposed.

"The big fight will come later, however. The authorization bill merely fixes ceilings for spending. The actual amount of money will be determined later in an appropriation bill."

Groups strategically situated in Congress have proclaimed it as their fixed purpose to slash the appropriation for this mainstay of the free world by more than a billion dollars," Eisenhower said.

Any drastic money cut, Eisenhower said, would be a crushing defeat in the struggle "between communistic imperialism and freedom founded in faith and justice."

The foreign aid program, he said, "has yielded our nation greater benefits in security, better neighbors, and opportunities for expansion of profitable trade than has been achieved by any other federal purpose."

A major cut now "would mean virtual abandonment of that effort," he added.

He spoke at a dinner sponsored jointly by the Committee for International Growth and the Committee to Strengthen the Frontiers of Freedom.

Urging "nonpartisan consideration," Eisenhower said the program is endorsed by both major parties and was started 14 years ago under his Democratic predecessor, President Harry S. Truman.

At that time, he noted, it was first enacted into law by the Republican-controlled 80th Congress.

The authorization bill the Senate passed Monday night is about $7 million dollars higher than the House had passed earlier. Differences will be worked out by a conference committee.

The Senate acted after a day-long battle over efforts to clamp tight new restrictions on the use of foreign aid funds.

Despite State Department warnings that "harmful repercussions" would result, the Senate in effect voted 45-39 to reaffirm its opposition to any foreign aid assistance to the United Arab Republic as long as it continues its ban against Israeli shipping in the Suez Canal. The action is not binding on the President.

Tabernacle Takes Lead in Contest

The local Gospel Tabernacle took the lead by 22 points this week in its Sunday School contest with the New Bethel Assembly of God in Fort Smith. The score after the second week of the seven-week contest is Tabernacle 39 and New Bethel 17.

The basis of competition is the church showing the largest number of increase in attendance above the 1958-59 Sunday School average attendance.

The contest was won by the Tabernacle by 22 points this week in its Sunday School contest with the New Bethel Assembly of God in Fort Smith. The score after the second week of the seven-week contest is Tabernacle 39 and New Bethel 17.

1959 Ginnings 14.5 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau reported today that ginnings of cotton in the 1959 crop totaled 14,600,145 running bales, which is equivalent to 14,650,631 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

Ginning totaled 11,435,323 running bales for the 1959 crop. A government control program permitted a larger acreage last year.

The figures were obtained from reports from 5,629 ginning plants located in 727 counties in 16 cotton states.

The ginnings, in running bales, by states for the 1959 and 1958 crops respectively, included: Arkansas, 1,534,210 and 924,453.

Says Faubus Calculated Race Trouble

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Attorney Bruce Bennett, who has charged that racial incidents "calculated to inflame the white people of this state" will be used to help Gov. Orval B. Faubus' campaign.

Bennett, who is opposing Faubus' bid for a fourth term, said in a statement yesterday that the incidents would result from actions of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and its Arkansas president, Mrs. Daisy Bates.

Faubus was not available for comment. Mrs. Bates was available, but her husband, L.C. Bates, also an NAACP official, said he "would not dignify Bennett by commenting."

Both parties have issued denials of earlier similar statements by Bennett.

"Hasn't it been peculiar," Bennett said, "that whenever Faubus hit a political low, Daisy Bates has always been there to create another incident?"

He noted that since demonstrations protesting lunch counter segregation in Little Rock began just a few months before the election.

"To determine what Faubus' campaign will be," Bennett said, "don't watch Faubus — watch Daisy. She is the key."

ABC Denies Clark Got Any Favors

WASHINGTON (AP)—The president of the American Broadcasting Co. denied today that Dick Clark was given preferential treatment over another disc jockey who was fired refusing to say whether he had taken payoff.

At the same time ABC president Leonard H. Goldenson disputed a charge that his network was guilty of a double standard of ethics.

Goldenson, said the fired disc jockey, Alan Freed, was the only ABC employee who refused to sign an affidavit that he had not received payoff.

Freed, once known as king of rock 'n' roll, was fired last November by ABC's New York radio station WABC.

The station's manager, Ben Hoberman was due to follow Goldenson in testimony before the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee.

Ike Calls for Passage of His Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower called on Congress today to enact his legislative program without allowing politics to interfere. He gave top priority to foreign aid and farm legislation.

Eisenhower also told Congress there is "need of restraint in new authorizations for federal spending."

"Federal accounts should be balanced with enough left over for a reasonable payment on the public debt, on which we are already paying for interest alone more than nine billion dollars per year," he said.

Proposals now before congressional committees would, if approved, raise our annual spending by tens of billions of dollars in 1961 and would disrupt federal budgets over the next five years by many scores of billions.

"We must resist the temptation, this or any year, to overspend the taxpayer's hard-earned dollars and overcentralize responsibility in the federal government," Mr. Eisenhower said.

Eisenhower said the one major accomplishment of Congress this year is enactment of civil rights legislation.

Eisenhower said much legislation remains to be acted upon.

"The great preoccupation with events of an election year could seriously impede constructive effort. With Congress controlled by one party and the executive branch by the other, these difficulties could become severe," he said.

"We should jointly resolve that the shortness of time and political rivalries will not be allowed to prevent us from serving the American people effectively."

Human Error Blamed for L. R. Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force says human error can be blamed for the disastrous crash of a B-47 jet bomber in Little Rock on March 31.

In a report, the Air Force said "the most probable cause of the accident was the use of improper techniques in recovering the B-47 from a high speed nose down attitude."

The six-engine bomber exploded above Little Rock only a few minutes after it took off from the Little Rock Air Force Base on a routine training flight.

Flaming debris showered on portions of the city. Three crewmen were killed and two civilians perished in their homes. Several houses were destroyed and about 100 others damaged.

The Air Force report, released yesterday, said the improper techniques allowed the plane to exceed its designed maximum stress in an attitude which imposed excessive structural loads ending in structural failure.

1st Lt. Thomas G. Smook, co-pilot of the ill-fated bomber, told investigators he first noticed something was wrong when the plane was in a nose-down attitude and in a 70-degree bank.

The report said either Smook or the pilot, Capt. Herbert J. Aldridge, 37, who was killed, lost the engine power and righted the plane but a structural failure occurred and the explosion followed.

There was no fire or explosion aboard the B-47 before the structural failure the report said.

In a related action yesterday, the Senate Judiciary Committee approved a bill sponsored by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) which would permit the Air Force to settle claims resulting from the crash in excess of $5,000. The Air Force is limited to that amount by law, but this ceiling would be waived for the Little Rock crash under McClellan's bill.

AEA Conference

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Education Assn. will hold its annual convention in Little Rock next Nov. 3-5.

The AEA, the state's largest professional organization, met in Hot Springs last year.

debt reduction or tax relief, or both, he added.

"Even if this session of the Congress doesn't add any new programs or increases to the budget, the level of federal spending will go up," he said.

"The catalog of built-in increases covers such programs as outer space, civil aviation, public works, merchant shipping, urban renewal, science education, medical research, public assistance, loans abroad, and veterans pensions.

"The farm program may become even more costly unless the Congress can find solutions faster than the farmers can increase their crops production.

"Now, for 1961 alone, these built-in increases came to over two billion dollars. That's why this budget is up from 1960."

"And for 1962 there are already in sight similar built-in increases of another billion dollars or more."

Stans was speaking of government fiscal years which end June 30 of the years mentioned.

William A. McDonnell, of St. Louis, board chairman of the chamber, told the session the threat of inflation is "as potent and dangerous as ever." He urged that businessmen take a more active part in government to do something about it.

Bennett Says Population Loss Greater

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett said today that preliminary federal census figures which reflect a population loss in Arkansas indicate "the industrial accomplishments of this (Faubus) administration are practically nil."

"Up to now we have been taking the word of one state agency (the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission) that all is well," Bennett told a news conference.

"It is true that some communities have obtained industries but I can show 200 cities and towns without a single new smoke stack."

Bennett is one of four candidates opposing Gov. Orval E. Faubus' try for a fourth term.

The attorney general said census figures seem to show that most towns with a 1950 population of 10,000 or more have grown while smaller towns lost population.

U. S. Probing Bennett Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Civil Service Commission is investigating a charge that Arkansas Employment Security Division employees are required to contribute to Gov. Orval E. Faubus' campaign fund.

The charge was made by Atty.

Gen. Bruce Bennett, one of four opposing Faubus in his bid for a fourth term. Bennett contended such contributions would violate the federal Hatch Act, which prohibits political activity.

ESD, although a state agency, pays its employees with federal funds.

Both Faubus and ESD Administrator James L. Bland denied Bennett's charge. Both said there was nothing wrong with voluntary contributions.

Bennett said today at Little Rock he had letters from two Arkansas congressmen, whom he declined to identify, assuring him that the Civil Service Commission would look into the charges.

"I hope they will make a comprehensive investigation and not try to pinpoint the matter on a few employees," Bennett said.

Bennett said he does not feel campaign solicitations are being made in other state offices.

"I imagine what has already been revealed with reference to the ESD has had a slowing-down effect on that kind of activity," he said.

"If they do start the same tactics in other offices I'll know about it."

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Huddleston of Magnolia announce the arrival of a daughter born April 27.

Mrs. L. Porter is the maternal grandmother and Mr. and Mrs. Benton Huddleston are the paternal grandparents.

Miss Emogene Fuller and James Edward Wetherington United in Marriage

A late afternoon wedding on April 15 in the Chapel of the First Methodist Church of Little Rock united Miss Emogene Fuller and James Edward Wetherington in holy matrimony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Fuller, and the groom is the son of Mrs. W. E. Spann of Little Rock.

White gladioli and greenery decorated the altar which was flanked by Easter lilies. Tapers in the candleabra were entwined with fern.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street length dress of white satin and Chantilly lace which had a scalloped hemline, rounded neckline, and pointed, three-quarter length sleeves. From a coronet of sequins fell two layers of tulle which formed her shoulder-length veil. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of her aunt. She carried a bouquet centered with an Easter lily that was surrounded by lily petals and small lilies.

John Summers, organist, played the pre-nuptial music which included "O Promise Me" and "Because" and the processional and recessional marches. The bride's only attendant was Miss Judith Lewis of Nashville, Tenn. Her dress was pale pink silk with a lace bodice. Her matching veil was attached to a dark pink velvet bow. The maid of honor wore shell pink mills and carried a bouquet of Easter lilies.

Official minister for the double ring ceremony was Maj. Benjamin Jones of Lafayette, La. William O. Jones of Little Rock served as best man. Ushers were Lt. James R. Fuller, brother of the bride, and Robert Walther of Little Rock.

After the ceremony the newlyweds greeted guests in the church parlor, where Mrs. William Jones had charge of the bride's book.

For the wedding Mrs. Fuller, mother of the bride, wore a green linen dress with beige accessories, and Mrs. Spann, mother of the groom, chose a blue linen dress with black accessories. Each had a corsage of Easter lilies.

When the couple left for a short trip to Hot Springs the bride wore a blue and white suit with blue accessories. Her corsage was the Easter lily from the center of her bridal bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Wetherington will make their home at 2815 Broadway in Little Rock where she is a faculty member at Cloverdale High School in Little Rock, and Mr. Wetherington is an instructor at the North Little Rock Boys Club.

Winners of Pulitzer Prizes Named

NEW YORK (AP) — Pulitzer Prizes have been awarded to Allen Drury's best-selling novel "Advise and Consent," the Broadway musical "Fiorello!" and the Los Angeles Times.

A. M. Rosenthal of the New York Times has also been honored with the highest accolade of his profession for the reporting that resulted in his expulsion from Poland last year.

The 1960 prizes were among 13 awards and one citation in the fields of letters, music and journalism announced by the trustees of Columbia University Monday.

Awards in newspaper cartooning and art were not made this year. The Los Angeles Times won the gold medal for meritorious public service for its campaign against narcotics smuggling across the Mexican border. The newspaper was cited for the far-reaching effects produced by a series of the problem written by its reporter Gene Sherman. The Times won the medal in 1942 for a battle to uphold freedom of the press.

Individual journalism awards carry a $1,000 prize. Prizes for Smackover visited this weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Anderson.

Mrs. Nora Holliday has returned to her home in Little Rock after visiting her daughter, Mrs. Harold Brents and family.

Man She Loves Doesn't Love Her

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I am a widow past 50. The man I love doesn't love me. He was so affectionate then stopped seeing me and now goes with other women. He is two years older than I, a good provider and hand-arts and letters are $500 each.

Jack Nelson of the Atlanta Constitution won the prize for local reporting where edition time was a factor. Nelson, 30, a native of Talladega, Ala., won for a series of articles on mental institutions in Georgia. He joined the Atlanta paper in 1952.

In the category of local reporting without deadline pressure the winner was Miriam Ottenberg of the Washington Evening Star for her series exposing a Washington used car racket. Born in Washington in 1914 she joined the Star in 1937.

Vance Trimble of the Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance won the national affairs reporting award for a series of stories exposing nepotism in congressional payrolls.

Lenoir Chambers brought the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot its second Pulitzer for editorial writing. The newspaper won its first in 1929. Chambers, 68, a native of Charlotte, N.C., has been editor of the paper since 1950. He was honored for editorials on school segregation.

United Press International's Andrew Lopez won the news photography award for pictures on the Cuban executions.

Historian Margaret Leech won her second Pulitzer prize with her book "In the Days of McKinley." A special citation in history went to arrest Mattingly, a Columbia University professor, for his book "The Armada." Mattingly, who will be 60 on Friday, was born in Washington. He joined the Columbia faculty in 1948.

Another two-time winner was Samuel Eliot Morison for his biography "John Paul Jones."

For his first book of poems, "Heart's Needle," 34-year-old William Devitt Snodgrass won the prize for poetry.

The prize in music was given to Elliott Carter, a youthful-looking composer, for his second string quartet.

some.

There is another man who really loves me. I like him but only as a friend. He wants to divorce his wife and marry me. I don't want to break up a home and have told him so. He bought me a ring and insists I wear it. Should I give it back?

If he didn't have a wife I could learn to love him. Should I keep on working and forget both men? —Lonely.

Dear Lonely: The last sentence in your letter contains the answer to your question. Forget both men and send back that ring. True love isn't there. It may be just ahead.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

After 16 years of marriage to the same woman, three children and two other unhappy marriages, I found another married woman that I could really love. I spent every weekend and evening there while her husband was at Scout meetings. I beat my wife, tried to kick her out, called her every name. My wife wouldn't leave after I told her how I hated her. I'm not seeing my sweetheart any more. Now I'd like to live with my wife but she wants a divorce. She can't prove all these things. I can't admit them.—Misunderstood H.B.

Dear H.B.: What a mess you've made of your life! At least you're frank. Why should your wife go back to you after the way you've acted? It will take time to convince her that you've reformed. Begin now!

Dear Dorothy Dix:

My father and mother split; my brother and I live with Mom. We like her very much except for a couple of things. On weekends my brother and his girl friend, my boy friend and I double date. Mom makes the plans as to where we go and includes herself. Another thing that we don't like is right; whenever she gets mad she stops talking to us for days on end. What do you think? —J.L.

Dear J.L.: Your mother is evidently lonely. The fact that her nerves are on edge may indicate regret over the separation from her father. I can't advise you on that

Ft. Smith Has No Clear Land Title

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today rejected the claim of the city of Fort Smith that it is entitled to all of a historic area on which it hopes to restore the 1817 fort which first gave the city its name.

But the court said that it had not been shown that Mr. and Mrs. William Mikels, the city's adversaries, were entitled to the area either.

The court said it was not deciding whether the title was in the Mikels' name or still in the Indian tribe's which once owned the tract.

In the former instance, the city may proceed by condemnation; in the latter, by negotiation, the high court suggested.

The opinion, to which there were two dissents, modified a ruling of Sebastian Chancellor Franklin Wilder by specifying that the Mikels are not necessarily the owners of the land. Otherwise Wilder's opinion was affirmed.

Justice Ed F. McFaddin wrote for the court majority that "We are tremendously impressed by the public spirit that has activated the citizens of Fort Smith to acquire title to the entire area, oricount but—try to be understanding. Have compassion. She is your mother. How about you and your brother asking your dates to bring along a parent to keep her company?"

Urges All Children Take Polio Shots

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Congress of Parents and Teachers has urged passage of a law to require all Arkansas children to have the full polio vaccination series before entering school.

The recommendation was part of a 12-point legislative program adopted last night at the start of the group's three-day convention.

Other major points in the state PTA's legislative program included recommendations for a study of juvenile delinquency, support of federal aid to education and backing of legislation to allocate 60.2 per cent of all state revenue over $1 million dollars to school funds.

A resolution on proposed constitutional Amendment No. 62 to the state constitution which would allow school districts to close public schools to avoid racial integration suggested only that each district study the proposal's implications.

Originally known as "Belle Point" but later identified by the name of "Coke Hill," x x x.

"It is a splendid historic undertaking, and we are impressed by the zeal of the Sebastian County Bar, which undertook to clear the title."

McFaddin held that Fort Smith did not affirmatively prove its title to the area.

Fort Smith brought the suit to have itself declared owner of 42 city lots and an area between the city and the Arkansas and Poteau Rivers to the west.

The Mikels made no claim to the lots but asserted their ownership of the remaining land.

Wilder awarded the city title to the lots but turned down its claim to the remainder. The city then appealed.

McFaddin, who said "It is a great temptation to lose sight of the legal issues in stating the matters of historical interest," referred to the 183 act admitting Arkansas to the Union.

He noted that the state's western boundary was extended in the Fort Smith area in 1905 by a Congressional act which added the land between the city and the Arkansas and Poteau Rivers.

The act specified that the title of the land taken from what was then Indian Territory was not affected.

Chief Justice Carleton Harris and Justice Paul Ward dissented to today's prevailing opinion. Neither handed down a written opinion.

Cleveland Not Playing Dead After All

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Whoops! Somebody better cut Frank Lane down from that telephone pole, Cleveland's Indians didn't dead after all.

Lane's trades, which had fans so wild they hanged the Cleveland general manager in effigy, now have the Indians in a first-place tie with the Chicago White Sox. The Tribe made it with a 3-2 victory at Washington, their fifth in a row, Monday night while the White Sox were losing 11-6 at Baltimore in the only American League games.

It was Johnny Temple, the second baseman Lane got from Cincinnati, whose two-out single scored the clincher against the Senators. And it was Herb Score and Don Ferrarese, two southpaws Lane swapped to the White Sox, who were tagged with seven runs as the third-place Orioles, (just .012 points behind) cut Cincinnati's streak at five games.

In the National League, a bases-loaded walk by Elroy Face gave the St. Louis Cardinals a ninth-inning run and a 4-3 victory over Pittsburgh, ending the Pirates' streak of nine games. Second-place San Francisco trimmed the Braves' lead to one game with a 5-0 job on Milwaukee behind Mike McCormick's four-hitter. Cincinnati beat Los Angeles 6-5, with five unearned runs, and the Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 8-7.

The Indians, who jumped from eighth to second in a Sunday doubleheader against Kansas City, scrambled to the top in a three-run seventh inning at Washington after being shut out on five hits by loser Pete Ramos (6-2) for six. Singles by Russ Nixon, the catcher, Lane couldn't get rid of, and pinch-hitter Bob Hale, plus a walk, loaded the bases in the seventh. Vic Power brought in two with a two-out single. Then Temple put it away.

Right-hander Gary Bell (2-1) had the Senators blanked on one hit until the seventh, when singles by Bob Allison and Jim Lemon and Julio Bequer's pinch double got their two.

The Orioles made it seven out of eight without hit 11-6. One of those half-dozen hits off six Sox pitchers was a three-run homer by Jim Gentile. It came in the sixth off Dick Donovan and upped Gentile's AL leading RBI count to 17.

Baltimore scored three in the first off Score on four walks and a two-run single by Gus Triandos, then hustled from behind for an 8-5 lead by pairing four of their hits with three walks in a five-run fourth against Ferrarese (0-1). A two-run double by rookie Marv Breeding was the big hit.

Giants Within Single Game of the Pirates

By ED WILKS

The San Francisco Giants are within one game of the National League leading Pittsburgh Pirates again because Mike McCormick has come out and a winter trade has come back to haunt the Bucs.

Ronnie Kline, the right-hander Pittsburgh swapped to St. Louis, junked the Pirate winning streak at nine games Monday night, pitching a seven-hitter as the Cardinals made off with a 4-3 victory on a bases-loaded walk in the ninth. With McCormick throwing a four-hitter for his second shutout, the Giants closed in with a 5-0 decision over Milwaukee's Braves.

Cincinnati tripped Los Angeles to fifth, a half game behind St. Louis, by beating the Dodgers 6-5 on five unearned runs and Ed Bailey's three-run double. The Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 8-7 with a three-run ninth capped by Don Zimmer's two-out single.

In the American League, Cleveland made it five in a row with a 3-2 victory at Washington for a first-place tie with the Chicago White Sox, who were whipped 11-6 at Baltimore in the only other game.

Elroy Face, the right-hander who built a relief record of 22 consecutive victories by winning his first 17 last season, was tagged with an 8-2 mark by the Cardinals. He walked pinch-hitter Carl Sawatski following Stan Musial's single Daryl Spencer's fourth hit, a double, and an intentional walk to Leon Wagner that loaded the bases. Face took over from starter Harvey Haddix in a two-run seventh—giving up a pinch-single by George Crowe that tied it.

Kline, traded for outfielder Gino Cimoli, was touched for two runs in the second and a solo homer by Smokey Burgess that gave the Bucs a 3-0 lead in the fourth. He breezed the rest of the way for his first complete game and first decision in three starts as a Card.

McCormick, 21, the $50,000 bonus kid of four years ago who now is a solid No. 2 starter behind Sam Jones, held the Braves to one hit for five innings, then got the edge as Jim Davenport broke up a shut-out duel with Carl Willey (2-1) with a sixth-inning homer.

The Giants beating back the Braves' bid for second place, made it a romp in the eighth with four runs off relievers Don McMahon and rookie Ken MacKenzie.

The Reds, whose only earned run was Billy Martin's first National League homer, a solo shot for a 3-3 tie in the seventh, got their winning three in the eighth after Vada Pinsons leadoff single and the game's second error by Dodger second baseman Charlie Neal. Loser Roger Craig (1-1) injured his pitching shoulder in a run-down collision with Pinson, and left after lobbing three balls to Lee Walls. Reliever Larry Sherry finished the intentional walk, struck out Roy McMillan and then gave up Bailey's sliced double off the left field screen.

Unexpected Snarl Over Jump Record

NEW YORK (AP)—An unexpected snarl developed today in John Thomas' world high jump record of 7 feet, 1½ inches. It came from an unexpected source—the composition of the take-off.

"When we submit the record for approval by the International Amateur Athletic Federation, we'll call attention to the fact that the jump was made from an asphalt-composition takeoff," said Pippy Sober, chairman of the AAU track and field committee.

Thomas made his record on his first try last Saturday at the Penn Relays in Philadelphia. The composition takeoff was the same one the Soviets objected to in their meet with the United States last summer. Later, when a rainstorm practically inundated the field, they used it and pronounced it satisfactory.

"I'm certain the AAU will approve Thomas' record for an American mark," said Sober.

The IAAF rules state that the surface from which the takeoff is made be capable of taking normal spikes.

"That's where the complication could come in," Sober continued. "What are normal spikes? Thomas actually was using the indoor, needle-type spikes on his jump because that surface won't take the longer, outdoor-type spikes."

The AAU will vote on Thomas' record later this summer and then assuming it is accepted, send it along to the IAAF for action.

The world record now on the books is Yuri Stepanov's 7-1. The Soviet jumper used a special shoe with a built-up sole when he made his record in 1957. The shoe since has been banned.

Hartow Shapley, noted astronomer, earned tuition for his education as a reporter on the Chicago Star, Daily Sun.

The Darby Junior Ranger won in the four-column division and the Arkansas Bulldog and the Wynne Yellowjacket tied for honors in the mimeographed class.

Palmer Ties Collins at Houston Meet

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, golf's greatest winner, sought his sixth tournament triumph in four months today as he met Big Bill Collins in a play-off for first money in the $35,000 Houston Classic.

The two tied at 280 for 72 holes in a drama-packed finish Monday when Palmer, the Masters champion, closed with birdies on two of the last four holes for a 1-over-par 73 while Collins had a 75 and barely failed on a 16-foot putt on the final green that would have given him first money of $5,300.

Jack Fleck of Los Angeles missed the playoff when his putt for a birdie on the eighteenth hole was six inches wide. He had a close 72 for 281 and $2,200 (third money).

Regardless of whether Palmer takes the playoff when his putt have piled up the most money he ever won in a year. Back in 1953 Palmer drew down $45,073.33 by playing in 33 tournaments. This year he has participated in only 14 and will have won $47,573.77 even if he takes only second money of $3,400 here. With first money he will have $49,557.57.

Palmer could attribute a putting lapse on the third hole for his failure to win the tournament Monday. He overshot the green, chipped short and 3-putted for a double bogey. His second putt was only 18 inches.

Collins said the shot he figured kept him from winning the tournament outright came on the first hole of the final round. He had a

State to Take Part in CD Alert

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas will participate in Tuesday's nationwide Conelrad Civil Defense radio alert. Stations on 40 and 1240 kilocycles will beam emergency information and instructions for a simulated enemy attack.

State Civil Defense headquarters have said a half-hour Conelrad broadcast beginning at noon will include messages from President Eisenhower, Leo A. Hoegh, director of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, and Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Under attack conditions, the 640 and 1250 channels would be the primary source of survival instructions for the general public. During the test, just as in a real alert, all other stations must leave the air.

Some Arkansas schools have planned to evacuate their student bodies in the alert. Sirens in Little Rock's city warning system will start drills in the state capital.

Mrs. Bennett Is Mother of Year

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Admiring friends and relatives gave Mrs. O. A. Bennett, Arkansas Mother of the Year, a rousing sendoff yesterday when she left for New York to compete in the American Mother of the Year contest.

The American Legion Auxiliary held a luncheon and a reception for Mrs. Bennett, mother of Arkansas Ally, Gen. Bruce Bennett. Bennett attended the fete but did not accompany his mother to New York.

Another son, Col. Stewart Bennett, former command chaplain of the Air Force Academy, was scheduled to fly from Japan to meet her in New York.

About 175 attended the reception. Gov. Orval E. Faubus sent a proclamation naming this week "Mother's Week" in Arkansas.

Five states claim the title of the "Switzerland of America." They are West Virginia, Colorado, Maine, New Jersey and New Hampshire.

Tol-E-Tex Fina Jobber in This Area

Tol-E-Tex Oil Co. Hope has been named a Fina jobber for this area, according to an announcement received from J. M. Shea Jr., American Petrofina vice president for marketing.

The appointment is effective immediately and involves 18 stations. Four of the outlets are located in Hope and include Tol-E-Tex Fina Service, Highway 67 E.; Buck's Fina Service, 3rd & Walnut; Kelley & McCorkle Fina Service, 204 West 3rd St. and Rowe's Fina Service, Highway 29 N.

C. P. Tolleson is president of Tol-E-Tex Oil Co. H. E. Thrash serves as secretary treasurer. Both Tolleson and Thrash are long time residents of Hope and active in civic affairs.

Mr. Shea said his company is pleased to have Tol-E-Tex representing it in this section of Arkansas.

"We are a comparatively new company," he said "and are expanding as rapidly as we can find appropriate representation. Tol-E-Tex is the kind of firm that we like to handle Fina products."

CHAPTER XXV

Now they returned, Debbie's hair bleached to white gold and her face rosy brown, and Tim, complaining that carrying trays hadn't done anything for him except strengthen his resolve not to let his boy when he went into the wide, wide world. Getting them back where they were going was a superhuman task. Rose, plumped, and had Olive extra days. Eventually Tim took off and he drove Debbie to Renwick. It would be a little vacation for her. Debbie was almost frantic with excitement. She talked incessantly.

One of the counselors at the boy's camp nearby had been an older man, a senior, this year at Harvard. In a way, he reminded her of Olaf.

"You've heard from Olaf this summer?"

Debbie looked at the bright trees along the highways. She said carelessly, "Oh, yes, she'd heard and maybe during Christmas vacation he'd stop off."

Once she said, "I'll miss you, Mother."

Shortly after her mother telephoned to say that John had had a slight stroke.

Her voice was, as always, serene. She said, "I knew you would want me to tell you. Don't worry, dear, he's going to be all right."

Rose felt a tearing pity. She thought of her mother's long years alone and her quiet happiness and companionship with John Kellogg. Each deserved this. "I'll fly out if you'll have me," she said.

"I know you'd offer, but there's no reason to—I don't need you, dear. Everything's under control. I called Gwen an hour ago. She insists on coming. I don't need either, but you know how stubborn she is." Ruth's voice broke between tears and laughter. "She says she's always wanted to go to California and she can run the house and leave me free to be with John."

When Rose had hung up she lit a cigarette and wandered into the living room. It was natural that Ruth would permit her sister to come to her; she had for so long relied on Gwen.

"I don't need you," she'd told Rose.

Was it so incomprehensible that a mother did not need her child?

I've never needed Tim or Debbie, she thought with naked honesty. I had them, I loved and worried over them. But they did make the completeness. I already had it. If anything—there were times when I thought they interfered.

No, she did not need them, in the profound, inward sense. Outwardly, she did—learning in and out, affording her laughter and anxiety, occupation, problems and affection. But that was all.

Walking about the room, she thought, Maybe there was a time when I needed my mother, but she was home so little. And Aunt Gwen was always there. Besides, after a while I had Mark.

There it was again, the need, the urgent, clamorous need, beyond the physical need for love and comfort or protection and sharing, beyond the shoulder to cry on.

Mark was no longer here. Mark was nowhere, or, perhaps, as she's once been taught, somewhere, but not here.

Yet, as long as she remembered, and her faculties remained, as long as she could recall and recall, there he was. He had gone from her; she had not gone from him.

Now she remembered something she had forgotten—although they tell us nothing is forgotten, it is all there waiting in the subconscious. She remembered that when she and Mark were first married, the young wife of a classmate of his had suddenly died and Rose had asked Mark—sure of her youth, her physical well-being—"What would you do if I died?"

"Don't talk about such things; it's morbid."

"No, it's not. I don't expect to die for a hundred years. I was just wondering."

He had said, "I'd have to go on."

"I suppose so." She's stopped and looked across the room at him in the little apartment and he'd come to sit on the arm of her chair and methodically ruin her hairdo. "Would you get married again, you wretch?" she'd ask him.

"Why, it is possible," he'd replied gravely, "if I found an extremely nice, clever, and also beautiful girl, madly in love with me."

She was instantly jealous of the unknown girl whom Mark would marry—after a suitable interval—following his young wife's demise, and very sorry for herself.

He added, "You are being absurd."

She would be 20 presently and even before that, she would discover she was going to have a baby. She said, "Maybe. But, Mark would you look for someone like me?"

He said firmly, "I wouldn't look for anyone. If there were to be someone, she'd drift in, out of the wild blue, and so forth. And she wouldn't be like you. Because no one is or ever will be." He got off the chair arm, picked her up, carried her to the shabby couch and dumped her on it. He stood there looking down and laughing. He said, "You're a dope."

"You can't go back," said Mark. "You can't recapture, you can't repeat. Court will now adjourn. Get on your feet, woman, and let's make coffee."

She remembered it every word as if it were being played back on a recorder. What in all those words were the most important. After hunting, she found, them. He had said, "I'd have to go on."

Hendrix Benefactor Will Be Honored

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Hendrix College's largest individual benefactor—the Trieschmann family—will be honored in the naming of a half-million dollar fine arts building.

Hendrix President Marshall T. Steel announced Saturday that the building, expected to be started next fall or winter, will be named for Mrs. Laura Trieschmann and her late husband, Adam Trieschmann, formerly of Crossett.

the Crossett Co. for more than 50 years, named Hendrix as principal beneficiary in his will. He died in December, 1959. The Trieschmanns also have supported a music scholarship at Hendrix for Crossett students.

Trieschmann was a member of the Hendrix Board of Trustees from 1914 to 1929. A native of Germany, he was a lifelong Methodist. Hendrix is a Methodist-supported school.

Before his death Trieschmann set up a foundation to aid colleges and churches.

Jailbreakers Are Back in Custody

MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark. (AP)—Four young jailbreakers were back in custody last night, 36 hours after they battered their way out of the Baxter County Jail.

Dale Kasinger, 18, and his brother, David Kasinger, 19, were arrested Sunday night at their home near here to complete the roundup. Ray Kasinger, 18, their cousin, and J. W. Studdard, 23, had been arrested Saturday night.

The four were awaiting trial on burglary and larceny charges when they escaped Saturday morning. Officers said one of them sawed through a cell bar with a hacksaw blade, slithered through the opening, found a metal bar and broke the lock on the cell door.

They were the only prisoners in the jail at the time.

Studdard was arrested at a roadblock about a mile north of Mountain Home. He was in a car with relatives, and told police he was on his way into town to surrender.

Ray Kasinger was found Saturday hiding in a field behind his home near here.

A manhunt that included state and county police and bloodhounds fanned out between Mountain Home and Lake Norfork Saturday night an early Sunday in an attempt to roust the Kasinger brothers, who were thought to be hiding in a cedar break.

They were finally taken into custody without a struggle at their home.

The four had tried to escape April 4 from the Boone County Jail at Harrison, where they were

Slayer of 7 Trying to Escape Chair

By BEN FUNK

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Dennis Whitney, 17-year-old, Californian whose front-pistol snuffed out seven lives in a casual coast-to-coast robbery spree, began a court battle today to save himself from death in Florida's electric chair.

Reaction to Execution of Chessman

By LEIF ERICKSON

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—The bitter conflict Caryl Chessman created in life seethed on today after his execution, finally carried out after 12 suspense-filled years in death row.

A federal judge, telephoning to order delay, got through to the gas chamber Monday just moments too late. He sharply said one of Chessman's lawyers should have reached him sooner.

Before the cyanide pellets drowned Gov. Edmund G. Brown debated Chessman's fate with protesting rioters on his mansion lawn and later was called "the hammer of California" by the racket leader.

Throughout Europe protests were raised against the "monstrous deed" and "unnerving penalty."

Stanley Mosk, California attorney general whose official duty had been to resist Chessman's persistent court appeals, said justice had been done under existing law. But he declared Chessman's death "should give impetus to demands that the law be changed."

Chessman, 38, convicted-author condemned for kidnapping and sexually abusing two Los Angeles women in January 1948, died with dignity, as he had said he would. He insisted to the end he was innocent of the crimes that cost his life.

Just before taking the last 13 steps into the death chamber, Chessman told Warden Fred Dickson he was not the red light bandit who took two women from parked cars in lovers' lanes and

Californian Is Mother of the Year

NEW YORK (AP)—A California

great-grandmother who turns her head away at the sight of women in tight sweaters and slacks was named American Mother of 1960 today.

Emerald Arbogast, 72, of Los Angeles, was notified of her award at the annual meeting of the Mother of America Conference Committee.

One of her six children was born retarded and she has devoted her life to helping him and other retarded children.

Mrs. Arbogast, looking much younger than her years in a trim, gray-blue suit and carrying a large bouquet of red roses, attended a news conference and replied to questions.

Of women wearing form-fitting slacks and sweaters, she said: "I just turn my head. I think they lose some feminine appeal when they dress that way."

On smoking by women: "I never smoked but some of my daughters do."

Drinking? "Once a year we all have a glass of sherry at our house before the Thanksgiving dinner."

On juvenile delinquency: "Home environment is important, and freedom under supervision."

On family life: "Marriage is a 50-50 proposition and my husband helped me a great deal in my work for my son."

Her husband, Glen Arbogast, an electronics firm official, was forced them at gunpoint to perform acts of sex perversion.

Strapped in the straight-backed death chair, the dark-haired Chessman smiled reassuringly at a red-haired woman reporter he personally had invited to witness his execution.

Ignoring others of 60 witnesses pressed against the chamber's heavy glass windows, Chessman talked to Eleanor Garner Black, trying to have her understand a final message she could not hear through the sound-proof glass.

Mrs. Black, Los Angeles Examiner reporter, read his lips as saying "Tell Rosalie goodbye." Whatever else he said could not be grasped.

The farewell was for Rosalie Asher, Sacramento attorney. In Chessman's last night in the dining room outside the gas chamber he named Miss Asher as the executrix of his estate in a handwritten codicil to his will. He directed that future royalties from his book be used to campaign for abolition of capital punishment.

The ritual of death was over in 10 minutes for Chessman, after 12 years of court battling which won postponement of eight previous execution dates and attracted worldwide attention. His body was to be cremated today without ceremony and the ashes sent to Glendale, Calif. his one-time home.

Panty Hunters Hit Southwestern

MEMPHIS (AP)—More than 150 male panty hunters raided two women's dormitories on Southwest's usually quiet and sedate college campus early today.

Some of the youths placed ladders against the dormitories, scrambled through second floor windows and unlocked the door to let swarms of fellow raiders in. Screams and screeches echoed through the buildings as the male students looted in an out of rooms occupied by sleeping girls.

The arrival of police broke up the twin foray but many youths fled the dormitories clutching handfuls of flimsy trophies.

A sophomore raider said he was manhandled by seven women students who seized him in a hallway and dumped him down a flight of stairs.

"The whole idea is disgusting," snapped

Tells About Undercover Third Party

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Former Gov. Sid McMath says an undercover third party movement is afloat in Arkansas.

He thinks success of the movement in Arkansas and four other states would insure election of a Republican president this fall.

Speaking Saturday to the Southwestern States Conference of the International Assn. of Machinists here, McMath said, "They aren't openly working on the third party movement, but it is being done behind the scenes."

He added, "The only result can be the election of a Republican president."

McMath did not name the other states where he said a third party movement also was under way.

He referred to a 1959 Arkansas law which provides that presidential electors can vote for any candidate of their choice and said "This means that we won't have the opportunity to vote for a president."

Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and South Carolina have similar laws.

As governor in 1958, McMath was instrumental in keeping Arkansas loyal to the Democratic

Stay Missed Due to Wrong Number

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Caryl Chessman missed another stay of execution by minutes because of a wrong telephone number.

U.S. Dist. Judge Louis E. Goodman said he telephoned San Quentin Prison to order a 30-minute stay of execution today to hear arguments on a new petition to delay the convict's death.

But by the time he reached the warden's office the deadly pellets had already been dropped in the gas chamber, he said.

The petition for a stay of execution was filed with Judge Goodman at 9:55, as fast as attorneys George T. Davis and Rosalie Asher could get to the judge's chambers from the California Supreme Court, seven blocks away, where a similar plea was denied five minutes earlier.

It took several minutes for the attorneys to explain the purpose of the petition and what had happened earlier in the day.

The judge then told his secretary to get the warden on the phone, but the first time she dialed she did not have one digit in the telephone number. She went back to the deputy court clerk to get the number again.

When she had the warden's office on the phone, she turned it over to Judge Goodman. He was informed the pellets had already been dropped.

Has Bathing Suit Valued at $1,000

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Pretty Scarlett Cornwell of Dardanelle owns a bathing suit valued at a thousand dollars or more.

It's a red, white and blue suit made of fur. The 17-year-old high school senior, who holds all kinds of beauty titles, modeled the suit as Bensky Furriers, Inc., yesterday.

The modeling job was in connection with the Arkansas State Festival of Arts, a week-long observance which ends Sunday.

Owner Z. Bensky of the furrier company designed and made the suit of French lapin. That's rabbit. He said the color scheme was inspired by the national colors.

Miss Cornwell gets to keep the suit. Bensky made it for her to model and then gave it to her.

How about that valuation of a thousand dollars?

Bensky placed the figure on his creation. Actually, he said, there is no way to compute the value of the suit, but "I wouldn't make it up again if you gave me a thousand dollars."

Miss Cornwell holds the titles of Arkansas Junior Miss, Most Beautiful Majorette in America, Arkansas Fair Queen and others.

Followers of Candidates Really Argue

BY ARTHUR EDSON
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Wisconsin was never like this. Camp followers of Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) argue over almost everything, but they agree that in the mountains of West Virginia they take their politics straight and seriously.

The Wisconsin presidential primary, won by Kennedy, was comparatively gentle and sweet.

Here, with the primary coming up a week from today, both sides have slugged away. Interest has been high.

"In Wisconsin," said Bob Kennedy, the senator's brother, "we never mentioned Humphrey once."

Partly. That year, Harry S. Truman was re-elected president despite the Dixiecrat revolt in the South.

McMath and George Watkins, of Washington, D.C., general vice president of the Machinists' organization also took verbal slaps at Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.). Though not mentioning McClellan by name, McMath charged that "certain individuals have used corruption in the labor movement as an excuse to shakele labor." McClellan headed a committee which investigated labor reforms and recommended reforms.

Watkins charged that the McClellan committee was part of a calculated campaign to destroy labor and was guilty of "vicious...exaggerated distortions" of labor corruption.

Here Humphrey is pummeled so ferociously an innocent bystander might think he was a Republican. He is hit at in speeches, in statements and in a paid political cartoon that shows a voter casting a ballot for Humphrey. But he's wasting it, the cartoon says, for in effect he's putting it in the garbage can. This is the incessant Kennedy refrain: "Poor Hubert, he can't win."

This change in technique is explained by Pierre Salinger of Kennedy's staff: "In Wisconsin, we were ahead. Here we're behind; we had to do something."

Humphrey, a man never renowned for his agility at turning the other cheek, has been punching back just as industriously.

While this doesn't add much to the stature of U.S. politics, it does add zest to the show.

Both sides report crowds have run above expectations. State newspapers, radio and television stations have reflected this interest by devoting considerable space and time to the campaign.

This is especially gratifying to Humphrey's supporters. They poured more than $100,000 into Wisconsin—all they had, they say—and they claim they have to scrimp here.

"But we've had greater interest here than in Wisconsin," said Bob Barrie of the Humphrey staff. "Down in Logan the other night we didn't spend five cents, not a living penny, and yet two thousand showed up."

Presbyterians Favor Racial Integration

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Southern Presbyterians have come out for racial integration as a means of helping their mission work.

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States adopted a committee report Monday which urged "the opening of the doors of our institutions to qualified students without regard for racial distinctions."

The report was submitted to the Jacksonville, Fla., meeting by the

Five Counties Register Losses

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Census figures for five Arkansas counties show population declines.

The biggest decrease was in White County, which dropped to 32,504 from 39,749 in 1950, according to Howard Norman, of Batesville, census supervisor for the Second Congressional District.

Norman also reported these other population losses in his district: Randolph County, 12,416 compared to 16,006; Woodruff County 13,821 and 19,029; Prairie County 10,555 and 13,639.

Fifth Congressional District census supervisor Doyle Burkett said at Little Rock, Yell County had a 1960 population of 11,655, a drop of 2,202 since 1950. Yell is the first of the six counties in the Fifth District to be completed.

Presbytery of the Potomac.

"Our mission work is severely handicapped in Africa and elsewhere by our inability to educate potential native leaders in white Presbyterian U.S. colleges where as scholarships are provided for them behind the Iron Curtain," the report said.

The Methodist General Conference at Denver, Colo., said it favored desegregation in its institutions but declined to cut off funds to achieve that goal.

A proposal to apply economic pressure to stop segregation at Duke University and other Methodist facilities was defeated. Duke and Emory University, Atlanta, Ga., do not admit Negroes. Ten other Methodist seminaries do.

The actions by the church groups occurred on a day marked by a major fire in a Kentucky Negro college gymnasium and the first organized anti-segregation protest at Augusta, Ga.

Fire caused an estimated $100,000 damage to the gymnasium at Kentucky State College in Frankfort. Investigators said all signs pointed to arson.

A series of fires broke out shortly after two teachers were discharged and 13 students expelled in connection with a boycott of the campus snack bar and cafeteria by students seeking more privileges and better food.

Negroes boarded three city buses and took seats up front in a mass demonstration at Augusta. Eleven were arrested on disorderly conduct charges.
